GOVERNMENT FIXES DOLLAR AT 1/2 FOR 1933 ESTIMATES

GANDHI'S FAST MAY BE FATAL IN TEN DAYS

FRIENDS HURRY TO AID.

Poona, To-day.
Nothing has passed Gandhi's lips for the last 30 hours, except water and those friends who have seen him describe him as looking famished.

For the convenience of visitors, Gandhi has been removed from European quarters of the gaol to a cell near the entrance, known as the "condemned cell," where he is squatting on a webbed cot.

The Mahatma receives visitors moving as little as possible but spinning his daily quota and saying his daily prayers.

Gandhi when he was a young lawyer practising in England.

Those scheming a way out to realise the need of haste, the acting President of the All-India Congress, declaring that if Gandhi fasts ten days he may never recover, although he may live 25 days afterwards.

Can Ottawa's Labours Be Made Ineffective?

London, To-day.

The Executive Committee of the National Liberal Federation, after sitting for two hours yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution condemning the conclusions reached at the Ottawa Conference. Sir Herbert Samuel, Home Secretary, made a statement of policy at the outset of meeting.

All doubt as to the National Liberals' attitude to Government policies, with respect to the Imperial Conference programme, was removed by the Association's decision. Sir Herbert Samuel will in all probability resign at once from the Cabinet.

NO UNDUE RISKS IN BUDGET

"THE PROPER MIDDLE COURSE" ADOPTED

ECONOMY NECESSITATES HOLDING
OVER OF MANY PUBLIC WORKS

POINTING OUT THAT THE ESTIMATES OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL WERE BASED UPON TWO ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS, A VALUE OF 1/2D. FOR THE DOLLAR AND A SURPLUS FUNDS MINIMUM OF $10,000,000, THE HON. E. R. HALLIFAX, C.M.G., C.B.E., COLONIAL SECRETARY, MOVED FIRST READING OF THE BILL INTRODUCING THE COLONY ESTIMATES FOR 1933 AT THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MEETING THIS AFTERNOON.

The Colonial Secretary pointed out extreme advisability of avoiding additional taxation.

Should the Hong-Kong dollar fall below 1/2, means have been reserved, the Colonial Secretary declared, for retrenching expenditure without distributing the balance of the budget, as laid before members to-day.

"The surplus balance at the end of 1933, as far as Estimates go, show a surplus balance of $10,616,131, and as the Colonial Treasurer has explained in the memorandum, the extra taxation imposed during 1931 and 1932 will have its full effect in 1933 and has made it possible to proceed without considering any further additions," Mr. Hallifax asserted.

The Bill passed first reading at 3.05 o'clock and the Council adjourned immediately afterwards. Sir Henry Pollock asked for two weeks' adjournment for the Unofficial Members to take considerations. The next meeting will be held on October 6.

A Middle Course.

In concluding Mr. Hallifax said:

"Hong Kong has so far perhaps fared rather better than the rest of the world rather during the last two years and it has been found possible to make an estimate for the coming year which is very much on the standard of preceding years, and which will keep us abreast of the times and ready to take advantage of the recovery that is so confidently predicted. But no undue risks have been incurred, and I hope that Hon. Members will be able to agree that this Budget, rather colourless though it may be, has successfully found the proper middle course."

The Legislative Council met at 2.30 and, after routine matters were hurriedly disposed of, Mr. Hallifax commenced the reading of the lengthy preamble to the Budget Bill. The 20-page document dealt with the Government's whole financial programme, outlined its general phases and indicated the directions in which the Government had moved to effect economies and protect the tax-payer against falling values of the dollar.

"Balance Of Budget."

"I have already used the phrase 'The Balance of the Budget,' and I hasten to support it before the point is made that it is a poor kind of balance which shows an extra weight of dollars on the Expenditure side. Each and every year Government must perform estimate for a full staff on duty; but there are invariably casualties such as cannot reasonably be foreseen which leave some balance on the total estimated under the Head Personal Emoluments."

"Further the choice of Public Works Extraordinary provides a very difficult problem. Each item proposed must be specifically named with its figure, and yet there is probably no year in which the Public Works Department have been able to carry out the whole programme and to expend all the money allotted. The Department is an easy public target for jokes on this account, but a very little reflection will show that the position is one which is dictated by the circumstances. In such a long list of works as Government has to consider in any year... there are necessarily a number of uncertain factors. The practice in forming the Estimates is to enter at once on the list all works that are definite commitments, to add those considered essential and to make a choice from those considered desirable up to the limit of the funds available if any remain. But even in the first two categories there

Mr. Henderson Warns Of
"Fateful Decisions."

London, To-day.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, Chairman of the Disarmament Conference, opened a meeting of the Bureau at Geneva yesterday. The German delegate was absent but the other Great Powers were represented. On the suggestion of the Chairman, the Bureau postponed any discussion on the subject of Germany's absence until the German Government have had an opportunity of answering Mr. Henderson's letter of September 18, in which he invited the German Government to reconsider its decision to abstain from the Disarmament Conference. Until a reply is received, the conference will remain in a state of suspended animation.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Shanghai, To-day.

The First Special District Court here has taken a definite stand against the Terroristic and illegal anti-Japanese activities by sentencing four coolies to eight months each. Charges of highway robbery were made against the coolies, who participated in an assault upon a piecegoods shop where the proprietor and his two assistants had allegedly transported a consignment of Japanese cloth.

The sentences are expected to produce a salutary effect upon other Terrorists.

The French Concession Police report a recrudescence of armed robberies and housebreaking following the liberation of prisoners under the National Amnesty Act. More lawlessness is anticipated as a result of future liberations.

DOLLAR'S RISE TO 1/4 TO-DAY

The value of the Hong Kong dollar, quoted at 1/3 3/4 this morning, rose a further 1/4 and late this afternoon was quoted at 1/4d.

This is a rise of a full 1/4 since yesterday's last quotation.

OPIUM WAR IS CAUSE OF ADMIRAL'S MURDER.

Two Rival Factions Believed To Have Clashed.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Shanghai, To-day.

An opium war, arising, it is said, out of the alleged public sale of the narcotic in Kiangsu, is believed to have been the motive behind the assassination of Admiral Wuk Wang-sung.

A serious dispute between rival factions over the division of proceeds from the sale of opium, is believed to have involved Admiral Wuk.

Admiral Wuk, opposed the demands of Provincial drug traffickers, and it is no longer believed that his murder was inspired by political enemies.

23 Danish Aeroplanes To Escort Prince Of Wales

London, To-day.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales who has been staying with their Majesties, the King and Queen, at Balmoral, returned to London yesterday morning and proceeded to St. James's Palace to complete arrangements for his visit to Copenhagen. He will leave from Croydon to-day in an Imperial Airways liner, the dromedary where the Crown Prince Frederick and Prince Axel, who is keenly interested in flying, will await his arrival. Pipers of the 2nd Gordon Highlanders, who are to play at the British Trade Exhibition to be opened by the Prince in Copenhagen on Saturday, arrived there yesterday and were accorded an enthusiastic reception. The music of the bagpipes, playing a great part in the festivities, was heard through the city. British Wireless Service will report him to the press.

FRENCH ATTITUDE TO JAPAN CHANGES

COVENANT FIRMLY

INSISTS ON ARMS CUT.

London, To-day.

The "News Chronicle" has received a message from its Geneva correspondent, saying that the French Government has decided on a modification of its Far Eastern policy with relation to China and Japan.

The correspondent says this decision will mean the abandonment of France's "faintly camouflaged support" of the Japanese action in Manchuria, and that France will in future "stand firmly by the League Covenant."

METHODIST CHURCH CONFERENCE.

Congratulations Come From Overseas.

London, To-day.

The United Methodist Church Conference at Albert Hall welcomed the overseas representatives and Sir Robert Perks read cables of congratulation from the Viceroy of India, Lord Willingdon and the Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. R. B. Bennett.

The union of the three branches of Methodism yesterday was achieved in the presence of a distinguished gathering, including the Duke and Duchess of York.

Reuter.

The message adds that the modification is due to the fact of France insisting on the strict application of the League Covenant in the armaments dispute with Germany. — Reuter.

Paradoxical Position.
France, it would appear, found herself in a position approaching paradox, when she insisted upon the restriction of German and European armaments generally, and yet countenanced, to some extent, the Japanese policy in Manchuria which necessitated the arming of large forces and the extensive organisation of military units and their supplies.

Army Aquatic Meeting.

Though the weather threatened to spoil the concluding day's sport in the Eighth Annual Aquatic Meeting of the Hong Kong Area Sports Board at the V.R.C. this afternoon, a large crowd was present when the teams competing in the Final of the Inter-Battery Company Relay took their places.

Thirteen finals are down for decision and at the conclusion of the meeting H.E. Major-General J. W. Sandlands C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., will present the Aggregate Cup to the winning military team and the individual trophies.

The Royal Artillery, holders of the Aggregate Cup, are favourites again this year. They commenced the final day of the Meeting to-day with a lead of 6 points over the Argyls, the standings being as follows:
Royal Artillery 32 points, Argyls 26 points, Borderers 14 points.

TYPHOON NEARING HONG KONG

First Warning Up
Early To-day.

COMING FROM SOUTH.

Travelled 150 Miles During Last Night.

Hong Kong is threatened by another typhoon, the fourth this season and second within a week. The No. 1 signal was hoisted at 9.15 a.m. this morning.

The typhoon, according to latest reports from the Royal Observatory, is at present situated about 150 miles south of the Colony, its direction being given as west-north-west, and is apparently moving about 10 miles an hour.

Overnight, the typhoon has travelled a distance of 150 miles, as yesterday afternoon, it was reported to be 300 miles south-east of the Colony. Its direction of motion was then unknown, but it apparently traversed in a north-westerly course.

TYPHOON SIGNAL CHANGED.

Indications Of Strong Wind
With Squalls.

During the tiffin interval to-day, the No. 3 signal (inverted T) was hoisted, this indicating that strong wind with squalls may possibly occur from the south-east (east to south).

Junks, sampans and smaller steam craft are making headway for the typhoon shelters at Yau-mai and Causeway Bay, while H.M. submarines have been towed to the anchorage opposite the Kowloon Naval Cantonment. All liners and other ships in harbour have steam up and are being kept ready to move to Kowloon Bay at moment's notice.

Easy To Dress Well In Late Fashions

Wide Selection Among Silk,
Cotton, Wool

SOME NEW MATERIALS

Silk, wool and cotton materials are perfect this season, and never before have we had so many kinds of each from which to choose. It makes it far simpler to dress well when you need not have a similar crepe-de-chine frock or the same kind of jersey suit, as the woman next door!

A new crepe de chine is heavy, and dull as suede with a slight bloom on it. It is produced in all the latest shades, and is used for beautiful tailored frocks, for suits, and for coats.

One type is printed with such a large pattern that it is difficult to decide which is ground and which is pattern. At the other end of the scale comes a tiny delicate flower pattern massed so closely that pin-spot could not be introduced between the blossoms. The effect is charming—and useful of course.

Very pretty, too, is the flower design like Japanese almond or cherry blossom very finely etched in tender colours on a pastel-tinted ground. It is interesting to note that this crepe is equally successful for evening gowns, for 'special-occasion' afternoon frocks and for elegant negligees.

Little coloured spots are still popular, so are some good mixtures of stripes, but the newest conventional pattern shows inch-square blocks of colour set closely together on a white ground. Crepe printed with this square design makes smart frocks, which have long straight coats of woollen material, or plain crepe, to go over them.

Variety in Cottons.

The most attractive new cotton is called pique voile. It is cheap, but very fashionable, and equally good for day or evening wear. It has hair-fine cord stripes, with tiny transparent lines between the ribs, so it is light and soft as silk. You can get it in white, pale coffee and pastel shades, also in pretty patterns. For wear at informal dances, it is perfect. For warm evenings at the theatre, too, it looks very cool and pretty. But I advise you to have it made on very formal and well-cut lines, otherwise it will be a failure.

Heavy printed flannel, such as is used to cover library and study furniture, is made into tailored jackets for evening wear!

Crepon is used a great deal. It is made in both cotton and silk, but the cotton kind seems to be the favourite at the moment. Evening gowns, day dresses and short jackets are made of it. It is good, also, for the latest favourite of Fashion—the pinafore frock, which is worn with little blouses. Talking of cotton, remember that there are many lovely cotton flowers to trim hats and frocks, and to wear as buttonholes.

Newest Notes.

Fine wool net is delightful for frocks, blouses, sleeves and yokes, and for short jackets to wear over silk and jersey frocks.

There are many smart shoes, one in particular being ideal for days in the country. It is a court shape, in black, white, blue or green kid, perforated all over, and therefore deliciously cool.

Belts to match these shoes fasten with large nickel buttons. There are also white kid belts spotted in colours to go with spotted frocks and blouses.

Georgette hats are fashioned like little-tweed sports models, the frail material being stitched on to a foundation of muslin and trimmed with gros-grain ribbon. These hats are nice to wear with plain georgette and crepe-de-chine gowns for weddings and other smart parties.

Petticoats are definitely "in" again. The favourite style is expressed in taffetas, to be worn under lace, crepe or delicate cotton frocks—and the more the taffetas rustles, the better are women pleased!

White silk pique jackets look well over frocks of navy, brown or black woollen moussé. A "two-piece" like this, with a navy, brown or black flat sailor hat banded with white silk pique as broad as the crown, is one of Fashion's latest words.

Straighter Hats.

Hats are being worn straighter on the head, and here and there are signs that soon we are to have hats that tilt forward hiding the brow, a line which seems unthinkable to most of us at the moment, but which one or two of the big milliners seem to be foreshadowing. The Breton, the sailor, and the small hat which turns up all round will last right through into the Autumn, and the rolled crocheted cap is still tremendously popular, particularly in white. Crocheted in string these caps are the latest thing for sports and seaside wear. Large floppy white felts, simply trimmed, are having an immense vogue, for not only do they look right with a variety of gowns, but they roll up so easily into the corner of a suitcase that they are bound to appeal to the busy woman of to-day. White tweed caps are being worn with the new off white tweed skirts and crocheted jumpers which Fortnum and Mason are sponsoring, and pique sailers still hold their own.

The vogue for white day gowns still continues. Not so long ago a frock of white made on tailored lines was labelled "Tennis" and was therefore not used for other occasions. This year, however, the white frock has been the smartest of all for spectator sports and day wear, and is to be seen everywhere. It is usually made of heavy shantung, crushed linen, mervelouse or schloss, which is a new fabric rather like a heavy marocain; and is usually made with a short shoulder cape or a little bolero jacket which may also be of white, or which may be in a vividly contrasting colour.

Angel Skin.

Schiaparelli introduced the angel skin-jersey for sports wear, but it is now being used for evening gowns as its wonderful draping qualities and cool slinky surface make it ideal for this purpose. Sometimes it is waxed to give it a dull shine, or the hem of the gown alone may be lacquered. Dresses of fine white lace have no other decoration but closely massed flowers edging the wide armholes, and white satin dresses are chosen by those with tanned skins. One worn by Miss Amy Johnson had one chemise shoulder and one shoulder strap of flat white roses. The low décolletage and the gleaming white satin set off her even mahogany sunburn to perfection. Chanel is doing her best to revive the ermine, and all her petticoats are wired to make the dress stand out at the hem which gives them a delicious floating effect; but anything more pronounced than this is not likely to be generally worn.

Evening Frocks.

With regard to evening dress the jealously guarded secrets of the big designers are harder to guess, largely because the spell of really hot weather which Paris and London have been experiencing has prolonged the vogue for cotton in evening dresses far beyond its time. Beautifully cut and finished they are only a trifle less expensive than their silken sisters, and they are now being made in dark red, dark blue and brown instead of in white and pastel colours as at the beginning of the season. Their long wide skirts show more fitting than drapery, and many of them reproduce Schiaparelli's new apron line, with apron shoulder straps, and a front panel which ties over a matching slip with long narrow bands of the material. For those of you who have still to buy your cotton evening gowns, I would advise organdi or broderie anglaise, for both these fabrics

DID LITTLE HATS DO THE TRICK?

Whence Came Windy
Coiffures?

People wonder if the little hats popularised windswept effects in coiffures, or if such coiffures brought the tiny caps to fashion. In any event, they are well suited to each other.

For this wind-swept effect, one's hair should not be too long, only little longer than shingle length, and though most women like to maintain a sleek appearance over the top of their heads, much can be done with the ends which are combed away from the left ear and stand out and up, ending quite high over the right side of the head.

Curly ends are naturally graceful when arranged in this way. In fact, there must be a certain amount of natural kink in the hair to give it the right "spring;" otherwise it will not stand out as carelessly as it should, and the effect is then entirely lost.

MENU SUGGESTIONS FOR TO-MORROW.

BREAKFAST:—Orange juice, cereal cooked with figs, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

TIFFIN:—Creamed salt codfish on graham toast, stewed tomatoes, gingerbread, tea.

DINNER:—Beef stew with vegetables, curly endive with bacon dressing, Brown Betty.—Pudding.

(Continued from previous column). stand up to any amount of laundering, and the whole charm of the cotton evening gown lies in its crisp freshness. Close gathering is very much used on frocks of these materials, and organdi is usually flounced as well, and for the older woman is often stitched with black in an all-over design. The broderie anglaise dresses look well with a velvet bow on the shoulder in a vividly contrasting colour and may also be finished with a velvet ribbon sash.

WOLSELEY FACTORIES BUSY

As proof of the fact that British engineers and British enterprise can still surpass the foreigner, there is no more striking example of the motor industry. Now in the leading place among the newer trades of Britain, motor car manufacturing has not only survived a particularly vigorous period of adolescence but has taught valuable lessons to foreign firms. The British industry is now master in its own house and is fast gathering strength for a vigorous and sustained attack on those overseas markets in which, up to the present, it has had no strong foothold.

In the Birmingham area are concentrated some of the motor industry's most effective forces and some of the pioneer firms. There is, for instance, the Wolseley company, which has a long and honourable tradition. As far back as the year 1900, at the conclusion of the first 1,000 Miles Reliability Trial ever held in Britain, a Wolseley car—the first of its type—took the premier award in its class, and ever since Wolseleys have kept in the forefront of British motor design.

Six-cylinder Specialists.

And its vogue is not confined to Britain only, for every day an increasingly large number of Hornets are being sent overseas.

Popular "Viper."

Another Wolseley model high in popular favour is the 16/60 Viper. This is a full-sized six-cylinder saloon, handsome and imposing, which seats five in comfort—a real family car. Very fast and flexible, well upholstered, and finely finished and equipped, there is little to compare with the Viper at anything like its very moderate price.

The 21/60 h.p. County models, the largest Wolseleys made, are cars of the finest grade, specially

In 1927 this old-established concern was bought by Sir William Morris, who with characteristic thoroughness proceeded to remodel entirely the manufacturing plant, concentrating it at its present location at Ward End. It was scientifically planned from end to end, many new buildings were added, and the very latest and finest machine tools were installed. This vast factory, covering 1,037,742 sq.

Efficiency, safety, dependability and economy—these may be said to be the watchwords of the Wolsley works. Every car has a four-speed gearbox with silent third gear, and powerful Lockheed hydraulic brakes. Triplex safety glass is freely used, and seating and springing are carefully studied to give smooth, comfortable travel.

The Wolsley company's confidence in its own productions is strikingly attested by the two years' guarantee given with every car sent out. The proof that this confidence is shared by the motoring public lies in the fact that, even in these days, the Wolsley factories are booming.

Property Taxes Go For Other Things.

AMERICAN SYSTEM.

Although property taxes are frequently credited with bearing most of the cost of building roads, the real burden is borne by motorists, an accurate survey of road costs shows.

At present motorists are paying more than 94 per cent. of the cost of building State highways and one-fourth of the cost of building local roads. Altogether motorists are paying about two-thirds of the cost of building State and local highways.

In 1930, the last year for which complete figures are obtainable, $1,423,164,000 was available for State highway construction. But of that sum $286,500,000 was left over from the previous year; Federal aid contributed nearly $92,500,000; bonds and notes financed by gasoline tax money accounted for $222,288,000 miscellaneous income brought in $17,000,000 and $60,800,000 was transferred from local authorities for State highway construction. So the actual amount of money coming from tax sources was something more than $744,000,000. Of this, about $43,000,000 came from property and about $700,900,000 came from gasoline taxes and motor-vehicle license fees. This latter amount is more than 94 per cent. of the total from tax sources.

Local Roads, Too.

In addition to paying nearly all of the costs of State roads, motorists are also paying one-fourth of the costs of building local roads. Tax sources in 1930 produced $656,656.00 for local roads. Of that motorists paid $162,022.00:

For both local and State roads tax sources paid $1,400,884,000. Of that sum property taxes paid $537,951,000 and motorists paid $862,933,000, or approximately two-thirds.

It is logical and reasonable that motorists pay nearly all the cost of State roads. It is also fair that they should contribute in part to the improvement of local roads. At present motorists are paying a just share, the figures indicate. In general gasoline taxes and motor license fees revert to local roads. This is coincidental with the traffic local roads carry, one-fourth of the nation's total.

Saving Of Labour Has Resulted.

Representatives of the Dunlop Rubber Company, Limited, recently demonstrated^{at Ashold Farm, Castle Bromwich, near Birmingham,} that the use of pneumatic tyres on agricultural vehicles enable nearly twice as much work to be done by a horse.

Two carts were used, one with iron-rimmed wheels and the other with pneumatic tyres. With the latter a horse was able to draw 85cwt. including the cart, on level ground or uphill, while it was as much as the horse could do to draw 20cwt. with the ordinary cart.

Pneumatic-tyred wheels on a special cart also ran between the furrows on ploughed fields for other agricultural work. The tyres can be fitted to existing carts.

NEW DUNLOP TYRE

A new car tyre, of special construction, is being tried at Fort Dunlop. Its special feature is that it contains three times as much air as an ordinary tyre and has with the same increased area of road

Comment And Criticism.

A KERB TEST.

Among the tests imposed upon competitors in the Scottish Rally after the conclusion of the road section was one entitled the Kerb Driving Test.

The test consisted of driving 30 yards and then stopping the car with its nearside wheels not more than five inches from the kerb and not touching the latter; passengers were not allowed to assist or advise the driver in any way and no special mirrors were permitted on the car to afford guidance.

I really believe, says Marcus W. Bourdon in an article contributed to the Standard Car Review judging from my observations, that if ten ordinary motorists were selected at random not more than one or at most two of them would be found capable of drawing up with both front and rear wheels on the nearside within five inches of but not touching a kerb. This inability of so many drivers to judge, within five or six or even ten or twelve inches, the line on which their nearside wheels are running at any moment is one, and probably the chief, reason why we find so often that motorists will not keep close to their nearside of the road when other vehicles are approaching or overtaking. It is responsible, in other words, for the prevalence and obstinacy of the middle-of-the-road type of driver; and also for the complaints frequently made by the police that so many motorists waste anything from one to four feet of the road width when they draw up their cars at the roadside in more or less congested thoroughfares.

Self-Imposed Tests.

I would like to suggest that all motorists should test their judgment and not be satisfied with themselves until they can comply with the conditions on at least five out of every six attempts. The latter should be made, too, under various conditions, such as alongside the kerb of roads with and without camber, and on roads with a grass verge of various heights. Both road camber and the height of the kerb or verge are prone to affect one's judgment.

Such a series of self-imposed tests will be of benefit to the average driver in improving his or her skill and judgment, for I need hardly point out that the ability of a driver to "steer an inch" may often prevent a crumpled wing, or a collision with far more serious results.

BRITISH CARS' SUCCESS.

Popularity On The Continent.

One of the European countries in which British cars are acquiring considerable popularity is Switzerland: indeed, the visitor to cities like Berne, Lausanne and Geneva is quite impressed with the frequency with which British cars are encountered in the streets. Prominent among them are Humbers and Hillmans, the distribution of which is in the hands of several of the most important Swiss motor-car distributors. It is interesting to note, also, that in the Concours d'Elegance held during August at Geneva and Lausanne Humber and Hillman cars were successful, a Hillman Minx being awarded a Silver Medal at Geneva, while a Humber Snipe gained a principal prize in the Concours at Lausanne. Furthermore, it will be remembered that the British Foreign Office placed a fleet of Humber Pullman Limousines at the disposal of the Delegates from England to the Conference at Lausanne, while another feature worthy of note is that many of the Swiss-owned Humbers are fitted with bodies made by some of the leading coach-builders in Switzerland, who are, of course, masters of their craft.

ing. He says that the reason why so many drivers cannot or do not draw in close to the kerbside when stopping their cars is that Nature has endowed us all with an illusion that is one of the greatest factors in keeping the roads even moderately safe; it is that when a person is looking straight ahead an object to one side or, the other appears to be nearer than it really is.

A Bad Habit.

Motorists, my correspondents say, ought to preserve that illusion; they should not endeavour to acquire judgment that will counteract it. "If they practise 'kerb-driving,'" he states, "they will be tempted to apply their newly found ability to cars, pedestrians, garage doors, etc., with disastrous results."

Well, well; we live and learn. I have always believed (and between ourselves I still do so) that those motorists who could "steer to an inch" were safer drivers than those who could not be sure whether their front and rear wheels were three inches or three feet from a kerbside. But apparently the police who reprove these latter motorists for wasting the road width ought really to pat them on the back, and issue a serious warning to the drivers who draw in close to the kerbside. The former it would seem are commendably preserving an illusion afforded by Nature, while the others run contrary to it and are

"FLOOD"—GARDEN THEATRE

Columbia Pictures' spectacular feature, "The Flood" now playing at the Garden Theatre is crammed full with excitement, romance and drama, and has stirring scenes of the confusion and devastation caused when the Mississippi river overflows.

Eleanor Boardman, Monte Blue, and David Newell head a capable cast, which includes Frank Sheridan, Ethel Wales and Arthur Hoyt. James Tinling directed.

"SKIN DEEP"—STAR THEATRE

As the star of "Skin Deep" Warner Bros. all-talking Vitaphone production, now showing at the Star Theatre, Monte Blue appears in several scenes with a heavy gauze bandage covering his entire face and head.

The cast includes Davey Lee, Betty Compson, Alice Day, John Davidson, John Bowers, George Stone, Tully Marshall and others. Blue is first seen as a scarred and ominous gang leader and later, physically and mentally remade—as himself.

MAIL REVIEW

"TOUCHDOWN"—MAJESTIC THEATRE

Jack Oakie is here again in "Touchdown" the Paramount feature at the Majestic Theatre.

The production, which is a dedication to the memory of the late Knute Rukne, provides innumerable thrills and sustained interest, in particular for football enthusiasts. Richard Arien heads a cast of present and former football players in America, to give appreciative audiences all the breath-taking play of a first-rate football game.

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"DEVIL'S LOTTERY"—KING'S THEATRE

Henry Ford, and other students of depression economics, should look forward with great interest and anticipation to "Devil's Lottery," Fox romantic drama, starring Elissa Landi and beginning Sunday next at the King's Theatre.

At the beginning of the recent "morning after prosperity," it will be recalled, Ford, in a widely published interview, declared that it would be a good thing for the country and the entire world in general.

His particular view of the situation at the time, it will be remembered was that a dose of hardship and a few hard knocks is needed very much now and then to make us keep our sense of proportions.

The peculiar interest in "Devil's Lottery," for those who hold this view, lies in the fact that this picture tells much the same story, but in terms of human beings, rather than in abstract theories of political economy. It demonstrates the effect of suddenly acquired wealth on those who have been previously happy without it. These effects are both surprising and startling.

With the money, not earned but won on a horse race, bringing with it, disgrace, tragedy, unhappiness, love and romance.

Miss Landi is supported by an all-star cast, including such favourites as Victor McLaglen, Alex.

ander Kirkland, Paul Cavanagh and Ralph Morgan, who share the male honors, Beryl Mercer, Barbara Weeks, Herbert Mundin and Halliwell Hobbes. The production, adapted by Guy Bolton from Nalbro Bartley's well-known novel of the same name was directed by Sam Taylor, who recently directed Will Rogers in the comedian's successful screen farce, "Ambassador Bill."

"TARZAN"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

"Underwater dialogue" is the latest problem in motion picture sound recording.

This unusual effect had to be obtained during filming of an amusing scene in "Tarzan, the Ape Man," in which Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer, and Maureen O'Sullivan will be seen at the Queen's Theatre from Thursday.

The scene depicted Miss O'Sullivan being pulled into the water and protesting against being ducked by the aquatic star. As she was brought gurgling to the surface she had to screen "Stop!" before her mouth was clear of the water.

"THE STRANGE CASE OF CLARA DEANE"—KING'S THEATRE

Every four minutes, as you watch a motion picture, you are witnessing an entire day's work by scores and sometimes hundreds of persons.

This fact was revealed when a new system of production schedules was inaugurated recently at the Paramount studios in Hollywood.

The new schedules estimate the number of minutes each day's work is to run on the screen.

On "The Strange Case of Clara Deane" schedule, for example, which will be shown at the King's Theatre, insofar as screen running time is concerned, is estimated at one and one-half minutes. Some of the most dramatic scenes between Wynne Gibson and Pat O'Brien were made on this day.

GERMANY JUSTIFIED IN ARMS CLAIM.

Dutch Expert Gives His Views.

Amsterdam, Sept. 15. The fundamental justice of Germany's claim for parity in armaments is emphasized by Professor van Riel, the well-known Dutch authority on international law, in an article in the country's leading newspaper, "Telegraaf."

Germany, professor van Riel declares, was fully justified in reminding the Powers of their disarmament pledge as laid down in the Versailles Treaty after having waited as long as 13 years for the former allies to redeem their pledge.

Professor van Riel insists that it is the moral duty of the former allied Powers to disarm themselves after having compelled Germany to reduce her armaments, and expresses the hope that the German step will have a beneficial influence on the Disarmament Conference by inducing the Powers to give up their policy of sabotaging disarmament.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

Professor Piccard's Triumph.

With much greater ease than last year, though not without inevitable fatigue, the intrepid Belgian aeronaut, Professor Piccard, accomplished his expedition into the stratosphere, and ascended to an even greater height than on his previous voyage. He was at his highest over Samaden in the Engadine at an altitude of nearly ten and a half miles. He was twelve hours in the air, having begun his ascent from Zurich very soon after five o'clock in the morning; and by five o'clock in the afternoon he and his companion were safely on solid earth again, not this time in the dark after sunset on the edge of an Alpine glacier, but on a much more convenient and far warmer landing place at no great distance from Lake Garda. All will remember the mishaps which befell him and his assistant M. Kipfer last year, and the risks they ran when they were unable to descend as they wished; and they will rejoice that he and M. Kipfer have now done so much better. Their voyage was watched with absorbed interest from many points on the not wholly direct route which bore them from Zurich over the Alps into Italy, and all the time they were in wireless communication with the earth. There appear to have been no hitches in their progress, even in the necessary for voiding the bladder, which they accomplished by means of a special apparatus.

which they felt severely, and an atmosphere so thin that exposure to it would cause instant death. They have been up to nearly twice the height of Mount Everest, that eminence on the earth's crust which no earth-bound explorer has yet conquered. They shot up steadily and speedily, and were for a large part of the time cruising in a region where, if anything had gone seriously wrong with their balloon or their spherical chamber, they would have had little hope of coming down alive. Though we may have to wait for the detailed results of their scientific observations, it is certain that on all other grounds Professor Piccard and his companion have the best reasons to be gratified. For one thing they have beaten their own record for height; but that perhaps to the scientific mind is of less consequence than it may appear to the more vulgar admirers of record-breaking. Nevertheless they hoped to go higher than ever before, and they succeeded. Aesthetically also, they have had a glorious journey, for the panoramas below them must have been incomparable. Indeed to them, as to no other human beings, there has been vouchsafed such a view of the earth in shifting light and shade as Goethe once imagined as open only to archangels. Their object, however, was primarily scientific—to explore certain "inconceivably high works" and to some extent last year the scientific results were not so encouraging as Professor Piccard hoped they would be. One of their main objects was to study the cosmic rays at a stratum where they have relatively only begun to penetrate the atmosphere. The days' hard labour of Mr. Schofield attempt was not in vain, for de this morning at the Central Court, suits were being heard on the Government's application for the Wanchi the greater importance of those suits.

SHIP ORDERED SOLD FOR DAMAGES.

Officers Claimed For Overdue Wages.

CHIEF JUSTICE'S RULING.

Sitting in Admiralty jurisdiction yesterday, the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, found in favour of officers of the French vessel Gr. Gen. Maurice Long, who claimed wages, and made an order for confiscation and sale of the ship in satisfaction of various claims.

The case was one in which claims for $1,884 for necessities supplied by the A. Yuen and Cheong Cheong Co., of 74 and 75, Connaught Road Central, were made against the Gr. Gen. Maurice Long II, a French vessel at present in the custody of the Court; and claims for wages amounting to approximately $6,000 by Paul Luigi, Adrien Peret and Jean Le Guyot, officers on the vessel.

Mr. H. C. Macnamara appeared for the plaintiffs in both cases. The details of the claims by the officers were as follows: Paul Luigi, captain, $3,603.42, which included wages for June, July and August, at the rate of $500 a month; wages to fall due under contract of service to October 17, 1932 at the rate of $800 a month; commission on cargo and passengers due under contract of service; expenses paid by the captain from June to September, the balance of the amount advanced by the captain, namely, 1,000 piastres, or $1,750 less $1,100 paid on account. Expenses of return to Haiphong and subsistence and maintenance until arrival at Haiphong. Jean Le Guyot, first officer, $1,344.15. Adrien Peret, chief engineer, $1,000.

News in Brief.

The funeral of Mrs. Khubchand, wife of the proprietor of the Royal Silk Store, took place on Tuesday. She passed away in hospital the previous day.

The directors and staff of the Wing On Co., Ltd., are holding a celebration of the company's 25th anniversary, on Wednesday, September 28, on the firm's premises.

Fines totalling $700 were made against three individuals for unlawfully possessing raw and prepared opium. Mr. H. Taylor, of the Revenue Department, prosecuted the cases before Mr. Schofield in this morning's Police Court.

An enjoyable dance was held by the Central British Association in the Central British School Hall last night. A good number of couples were present, and the music was provided by a radio gramophone, dancing continuing until 1 a.m.

Miss M. Nutall, of Madame Chiffon's, Gloucester Building, was the victim of a bag snatcher early yesterday afternoon. Her purse, which was valued at $20 contained $250 in Hong Kong currency, and one or two valuable articles. The total loss is estimated at $54.

New arrivals at the Peninsula Hotel since the last list was published were: Mr. A. F. Brennan, Mrs. M. W. Brennan, Mr. W. H. Dent, Lady Furnivall, Mr. and Mrs. Goldie, Mr. F. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Griffith, Mr. A. Keith, Mr. G. F. Knight, Mrs. G. Lumadine, Mr. G. B. McCormick, Rev. D. S. McDermott, Mr. W. Owen, Mr. T. C. Reed and Mrs. J. D. Southern.

Four women and one man, all Chinese, were fined $5 or seven days' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the Central Court, for trespassing on the Government's property, the Wanchi the greater importance of those suits. They had been arrested in the morning at the Wanchi the greater importance of those suits. They had been arrested in the morning at the Wanchi the greater importance of those suits.

DRIVEN TO ACHIEVEMENT

(By Patrick Murphy.)

"I have never heard my father had allowed the state of the bank balance or the fact of an overdraft to deviate me from what I saw as a sure path of advancement. I might have been struggling still to regain that path."

Sir William Morris, the most modest of men, made that remark to a friend of mine before I had met him myself.

As a fact, most people would be amazed if they knew the amount of money this man gives away to hospitals each year. Money has no interest for him as money.

He saw that a small car would be needed long before it had arrived. He was determined to provide it for the public. He accomplished his purpose.

Set Backs. I asked him if he had had many set-backs. "Hundreds of them, literally hundreds."

He had. I know that the war nearly ruined him.

Yet, because he believed in the need for the work he was prepared to do, in the article he knew how to manufacture cheaply and well, he succeeded wonderfully.

I do not think people ever think of Sir William Morris as a wealthy man. He is utterly identified with the machine he manufactures. You think of cars and not of money when his name is mentioned.

Coty, the man who makes scent, could have been much richer than he is. But he has, like these others, an idea which he has been determined to bring to concrete life.

He went into politics when very young. He was not contented there. One day, quite by accident, the need for variety in perfumes came to him as an idea. Some trivial incident brought it to his notice.

Vanity Ban. His parents would not help him, as he will willingly tell you to-day, because they did not approve of his occupying his time by pandering to the vanity of women.

He studied the matter for two or three years, and then with his own tiny capital started to make perfumes and sell them.

He is an intensely artistic sort of man, masculine and combative at the same time.

"I saw there was a need, and I felt I could provide for it. He told me in his quick, slick way.

Lost Riches. He made perfumes and gave them musical, attractive names. He provided for the most capricious nose, and at the same time powders, and other cosmetics for every sort of girl the gay world over.

He thought France should have cheap newspapers. So he battled with all the Paris newspapers until he achieved his object.

He would probably have been a much richer man if he had not waged this battle. But money was not his object.

He and his fifty-seven varieties are the outcome of this same type of mind. Some say that to do man's heart's desire, and made whatever he was eating taste as some of his pickles now taste.

If he liked them, so would lots of people, he felt sure. Ideas came which built his original sauce up to the incredible number of varieties we now know. He made huge money.

"It is not money," he told me as though I were a child. "Do something you think will make folks think of you gratefully, doing them what they want. Forget about the money."

HARVEST OF RAIN.

The British Overseas Chinese Association has been successful in its appeal to the Government for a grant of $100,000 for the purpose of providing relief for the Chinese population in the various provinces of China which are suffering from the effects of the recent drought.

ANOTHER HOMER FOR FOXX.

Requires Seven For World Record.

WORLD SERIES CONTENDERS LOSE.

New York, To-day.
Jimmy Foxx batted out his fifty-fourth home run of the season yesterday when playing against the American League champions. Foxx now requires only seven circuit clouts to shatter Babe Ruth's 1927 world record. Home runs by Al Simmons, Foxx and McNair gave the Athletics a comfortable win over the Yankees, the new challengers for the World Series title which commences next Monday. The Chicago Cubs, the other contenders for world baseball supremacy, also suffered a reverse, the Pirates winning a big-hitting game by 9 to 6.

The following were the results of yesterday's baseball games:—

South China Command Swimming Heats Decided

A huge crowd witnessed the heats of the Eighth Annual Aquatic Meeting of the Hong Kong Area Sports Board at the V.R.C.

Competition was keen, and some excellent times were returned, the best events of the day being the Army Championship Medley Race, and the 150 Yards Championship for the Cup presented by the Officers of the Small Units.

Pte. Campbell of the South Wales Borderers, won his heat in the latter event with considerable ease in 1 minute 47 2/5 seconds, the best time in the remaining three heats being that of Bdn. Jameson of the Argylls who returned a time of 1.46. This event should prove interesting in the finals which are to be held to-day.

In the Officer's Race, Lt. Musson, R.A. left the rest of the field nowhere, and won leisurely over 100 yards in 1 minute 51 seconds. The same swimmer annexed third place in the high dive.

The finals of the sports will be held in the V.R.C. tank this afternoon commencing at 2 p.m. His Excellency, Major General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., G.O.C., having consented to present the prizes at the conclusion of the programme.

WHY is it that some advertisers carry a style throughout their press announcements, while others present only a disorderly array of advertisements?

Why is it that those of the great National Advertisers possess an air of distinction, while those of small competitors fail to hit the mark?

The answer lies in the MAT SERVICE. Matrices or stereotypes will ensure your not being dependent on the various assortment of types, to which each periodical in turn subjects your announcements. Your advertisements will carry a pleasing uniformity, a professional touch, through the MAT SERVICE.

"I suffered unnecessary pains since I was 15"

"After having given Kalzana tablets a fair trial I have no hesitation in saying: 'They are a boon to girls such as myself who suffer a great deal of pain at certain periods.' I have suffered these unnecessary pains since I was fifteen years of age, as a matter of course. Kalzana has done for me all it claims to do and I only wish I had heard of the preparation before."—Miss M.A. Lanes.

Why suffer these periodic complaints and irregularities? They can be easily by overcome. For they mean that your body lacks sufficient calcium, and simply by taking Kalzana, the Calcium Food, this necessary element will be brought into your system and you will very soon be enjoying perfect health. Being a food, Kalzana is easily assimilated, and strengthens your body in all parts of your system besides those mentioned. It gives you power of resistance against infection and illness, it makes your body strong and able to withstand decay, lowers high blood pressure and generally gives new strength to your whole constitution.

BIG CROWD WITNESS ANDREWS IN ACTION

TSUI WAI-PUI IMPRESSES WITH FORCEFUL DISPLAY

HO KA-LAU'S SPLENDID LOBBING

NEW ZEALANDER CARRIES LO TO WIN AND BEATS FINCHER 6-1, 6-0.

E. D. Andrews was again seen to advantage yesterday when he was the central figure in two exhibition matches on the H.K.C.C. courts. He was not, however, in such good form as on Monday down at Sookunpoo. In the earlier sets in the doubles match he was continually mistiming the ball, and as a consequence was overhitting. In the singles match, however, he recovered his usual form and proceeded to play superb tennis to defeat Hong Kong's No. 2 ranking player by 6-1, 6-0.

TSUI Wai-pui, the young Chinese player who was called to fill Yew Man-ki's place at the last minute, played magnificent tennis in the early stages, far surpassing the wildest hopes of his many supporters. His game was, however, broken up towards the end by the brilliance of Andrews. Tsui has, however, every reason to be proud of his display and will seriously challenge for a place in the Inter-port side if he continues in his present form. Ho Ka-lau played his usual steady game, his lobbing tactics causing Andrews considerable anxiety. M. W. Lo was clearly out of practice and failed to impress, though bringing off one or two good shots on occasion. His partnership with Andrews could hardly have been considered as satisfactory. Fincher, who is suffering from too much tennis at the moment, was clearly out-classed by the New Zealander, and his capture of one game in two sets was a fair indication of the play. POOR COMBINATION.

The doubles game proved disappointing due to the fact that Ho and Tsui preferred to pepper Lo with shots in the first set, rarely giving Andrews much opportunity to display good form. In the second and third sets Andrews was more in the limelight owing to his agility at the net and his clever placements which forced his opponents to return their shots to him at the net. Ho's lobbing proved a splendid asset to the local pair, Andrews mistiming quite a number of deep smashes after having paved the way for a kill. He is undoubtedly the best exponent of the lob shot in the Colony.

Andrews never appeared comfortable in partnership with Lo, the local player being too prone to hang back, with the result that Andrews never knew quite where he was all the time. Time and again in the first set they were passed down the centre of the court due to the lack of understanding and Lo's position on his court.

REMARKABLE ACCURACY. The New Zealander displayed in different form at the commencement of the game, the light appearing to trouble him, but after he had settled down and found his length he was master of the situation. With great forehand driving and forcing play at the net he carried Lo to victory in three sets. In the singles match Andrews' accuracy proved far too much for Fincher and he won with a considerable amount in reserve. His placements were magnificent causing Fincher to tire himself out running from one corner of the court to the other. Andrews never looked like losing a game in the second set, his cannon-ball service being in good form and his forehand and backhand working with machine-like precision.

Yesterday's matches resulted as follows:—
E. D. Andrews and M. W. Lo beat Ho Ka-lau and Tsui Wai-pui 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.
E. D. Andrews beat E. C. Fincher 6-1, 6-0.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME. Two exhibition games will be staged to-day commencing at 3.30 p.m.:— E. D. Andrews and A. L. Sullivan v. H. D. and S. A. Rumbach.
E. D. Andrews v. S. A. Rumbach.

ARMY SOCCER STARTS ON SATURDAY.

South China Provide Opposition.

The Army Soccer teams are commencing the 1932-33 season with friendly games, the following programme having been arranged:—

Saturday:—
Argylls 2nd Team v. South China 2nd Team. Kick-off 2.15 p.m.

Argylls v. South China. Kick-off 4 p.m.

Both these games will be played on the Caroline Hill Ground.

Sunday:—
Borderers 2nd Team v. South China 2nd Team. Kick-off 2.45 p.m.

Borderers v. South China. Kick-off 4.15 p.m.

To be played on the Army Sports Ground at Sookunpoo.

All the Clubs concerned are playing their very strongest teams, the South China Athletic Association's premier team consisting of the players who recently returned from a very successful tour of Batavia.

SHAMEEN TO VISIT THE Y.M.C.A.

Extensive Preparation For September 31.

The Shameen Swimming Club have been able to raise a team to compete against the Y.M.C.A. in the "Y" bath on September 31.

The contest will be in the nature of a return encounter, the "Y" team having lost by the narrow margin of 31 points to 28 during their recent visit to Canton. The composition of B. Rasmussen's team is not yet known, but, judging from the swimmers on view during the Canton game, the "Y" are confident of turning the tables on their opponents and recapturing their flag.

The gala night should break all "Y" records for attendance. The dining room is to be thrown open for dancing and with the West Lounge in full swing a huge crowd is expected.

KOWLOON RUGBY CLUB.

Seven-a-side Rugby practice games will be held at the Kowloon Rugby Club ground this evening at 5.15 p.m. Three Club teams will participate, but owing to the Military Swimming Gala which is being held at the V.R.C., the Argyll team will not be able to turn out. With the threatening rain it is anticipated that the ground will be in fine condition.

Kowloon Cricket Club Activities During Last Season

The annual report of the Kowloon Cricket Club, to be presented to members on Friday, September 30, contains several sports items of interest.

The following scored centuries for the 1st XI during the season:—
E. F. Fincher (2), E. C. Fincher, and G. C. Burnett, while P. S. W. Smith scored two for the second eleven. E. C. Fincher took 20 catches and N. A. E. Mackay 14.

Hockey Club Open Season With Win

Recreio Go Down By Three Goals To Nil

TETLEY NETS TWICE

CLUB FIXTURE CARD FOR SEASON SHOWS 86 MATCHES.

The Hong Kong Hockey Club first eleven commenced their 1932-33 season yesterday afternoon, when they met and defeated the Club de Recreio by three goals to nil on the home ground at King's Park.

The Club played ten men throughout, D. B. Evans, at right wing being absent, while W. E. Williams, the Welsh International was also an absentee, his place being taken by A. E. P. Guest, of the St. Andrew's Club. The Recreio played pluckily against a more experienced combination, their defence being sound, but a trifle on the slow side generally. The Club, on the other hand, were not playing up to their best form.

The early stages of the first half witnessed many fine forward movements on the part of the Club, Divett and Tetley being prominent. Guest on the right wing, however, was slow in centring. Gonsalves, who should do well this season, was holding Divett with credit.

After fifteen minutes play, Tetley, receiving a pass close in from Guest, made no mistake with a first time shot to give the Club the lead. Shortly after, Francis scored the second goal. The Recreio forwards seldom looked dangerous, their main fault being hesitancy in getting rid of the ball. Towards half time Tetley sent in the third goal with a neat shot.

NO FURTHER SCORING

In the second half, the Recreio showed up better, their play being featured with good work by Botelho, Nolasco and Silva. Luz, in goal, was responsible for clearing numerous shots very well. Neat forward movements brought the Recreio close in but Duncan was safe.

A certain goal for the Recreio was lost when Remedios hesitated in centring. The Club forward combined well but were repulsed by a steady defence, Divett, Guest and Francis shooting wide when well placed. Play terminated in fast fading light.

ANDY WILSON AT NIMES.

The three British footballers who have been engaged to play for the Nimes football club have started the French season well. The players are Andy Wilson, formerly of Queen's Park, Glasgow, Alex Gifford, of Chelsea, and Harry Ward. In their first match of the season, Nimes defeated Lyons and scored 4-0 goals, and Ward scored 2 goals.

Japanese Stars In Exhibition Games.

U.S. CHAMPION EXHAUSTED.

Detroit, Sept. 12. Ellsworth Vines, recently crowned national singles champion, partnered by Miss Helen Jacobs, winner of the women's national title, defeated a combination composed of Miss Sarah Palfrey and Keith Gledhill, youthful Californian, here in an exhibition match to-day by scores of 6-3, 6-4.

In another match, Frankie Parker, national junior champion, defeated Miss Helen Jacobs, 6-0, in a one set affray thus upholding the contention, so often jeopardized, that woman is the weaker sex.

In another exhibition match, Jiro Satoh, famous Japanese star, who was eliminated in the closing stages of the national championships tournament, defeated Ellsworth Vines, 6-2, 6-3. Vines, exhausted by previous play, was not hard to beat as he offered little resistance.

Parker, however, evened the score for the United States later in the afternoon by taking a set from Kuwabara, another well-known Japanese ace, 6-4.

Vines and Gledhill, the combination that a few days ago won the national doubles title, then took on Kuwabara and Satoh in an exhibition doubles match and won by 6-4, 6-4. Miss Palfrey and young Parker also emerged triumphant in a mixed doubles match by beating Miss Jacobs and Kuwabara in another two-set match, 7-5, 6-4.

THE ARMY TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

A CAUTIOUS BUDGET FOR COLONY

are many where circumstances combine to prevent the expenditure of the money allocated to this or that object, and among the desiderata work may be postponed at any rate till late in the year owing to difficulties, such as change of site or questions of accommodation required or of design.

"It is in fact hardly possible to complete a programme of this size precisely according to a very definite plan, and a margin of variation is called for; and hence a margin of saving—in fact a slightly inflated estimate—is unavoidable.

Considerations such as these, invariable under-expenditure which cannot be estimated for, will justify calling the Account balanced when mathematics would not justify the word. But all the expenditure allowed for must be at the lowest "desirable" and must at its total figure be within our means and the Government holds that the proposals now before the Council fulfil these requirements.

Possible to Reduce.

"A word on the other side of the problem. If necessity compels, as it did when the dollar sank to 1/- and below, it is possible to reduce certain departmental expenditure granted that this can only be done and some "Public Works. It is granted that this can only be done by a certain risk of efficiency—as e.g. by reducing travelling and other allowances, or by lowering the standard of the upkeep of roads—but necessity may compel, as it has done before. The Treasurer is standing by with his blue pencil as he notes in his memo, but he adds
"It is not considered that the expenditure shown in the Printed Estimates is beyond the resources of the Colony."

Important Changes.

"I pass now to the question of the form in which the 1933 Estimates have been drawn up. Hon. Members will note that there are important changes "as compared with 1932, and they are the result partly of instructions from Home and partly of an attempt to fall in with the wishes of the Unofficials as expressed last year. In either case the object was the same—to show as clearly as possible the separate cost of each Department for the year concerned. The effort to reach this end has shown that caution is required in interpreting the Estimates, as now presented; the difficulty centring in those cadres of the service which are not in their nature confined to special Departments. They are the Cadet Service, the Senior Clerical and Accounting staff and the "Junior Clerical Staff" in the case of the first two the position being made still more difficult by the calls of Home leave.

A number of retirements in the senior ranks of the Cadet Service are expected during the next year or two, and we have to look ahead in filling the ranks of this cadre.
In the past a Cadet has not been available for duty until he has studied Chinese for two years; for the future the new unification scheme of the Colonial services requires him to take a course of one year's study at Home before coming out. We have not been able to fall completely into-line at once, and have asked for one new Cadet to be sent out at once without the year's training at Home, and other two will be appointed against the eventualities of three years hence, when they will be ready for duty. The cost of the year in England is estimated at $335, but the figure arrived too late for inclusion in the Estimates, where the ordinary Cadet salary of $450 has been entered.

Police Changes.

Apart from the additional posts which were approved by the Finance Committee last December, and with which I do not propose to deal to-day as they were fully discussed at the time, the principal increases shown in the draft Estimates of the Police Department are one European Sub-Inspector, and two Lance Sergeants and twenty-eight Constables in the Cantonese Contingent.

The Medical Department shows a marked increase in personnel.
The most noteworthy additions are, in the order in which they appear in the printed Estimates, a Class I. officer of the Senior Clerical Staff, who is required to assist in the increasing amount of administrative work that is involved in running a department the size of the Medical Department; a House Officer for the University Professors who assist the Government at the Outpatients' Department at the Civil Hospital;
two European Nursing Sisters; who are required in connection with the expansion at Kowloon.

On the retirement of the present Director of Education, Mr. de Martin, he will be succeeded by Mr. N. L. Smith, a Cadet Officer, whose appointment to the post has been approved by the Secretary of State. Provision is made in the draft Estimates accordingly.
There is an increase of four posts of Students in Training.

The approved Estimate for Public Works Extraordinary for 1932 was $2,173,545 and for Loan Works $1,882,789. For 1933 the figures are $3,667,923 and $1,309, 398 (exclusive of payments to the Consulting Engineers). It will thus be seen that actually so far as extraordinary works are concerned whether paid out of current revenue or out of loan, the estimated expenditure next year is approximately 25 per cent. more than the approved expenditure for the current year. The part of this sum that will prove to be required during 1933 will tax to the utmost the capacities of the staff of the Public Works Department.

Summarised new posts, as will be seen from the Recapitulation on the last page of the Abstract of Differences amount to $358,064.
Three lakhs of this is made up by the increases in the Treasury, Police, Medical, Sanitary, Education and Public Works Departments, with which I have generally dealt. Posts abolished amount to $127,015. There are explana-

NEW ARMS ORDERED FOR CANTONESE TROOPS.

Rifles and Steel Helmets Wanted
From Colony Firm.

It is learned that emissaries of General Chan Chai-tong, Head of the Canton Administration, have arrived in the Colony to place orders for war materials with a local firm. The order is said to include 10,000 modern rifles and 50,000 steel helmets.

The arms, it is anticipated, are to be used in the continued attempts to suppress the bandits and communist activities in the Southwestern provinces.

tions of each detail in the footnotes.

Turning to Public Works Extraordinary I would refer you first to the fully detailed memo prepared by the Director of Public Works, in connection with which I would like to state in passing that it has since been decided to reduce the width of certain sections of the road between Causeway Bay and Ming Yuen Garden, which appears as sub-head 11, to seventy-five feet. This will reduce the total estimate, but it has not yet been possible to work out the exact figure. It is impossible to avoid making provision for the many details necessary for the properly ordered life of the community in general—Police Stations, Markets, Latrines and so forth, and I would include among them the new residence for the Director, Royal Observatory whose present combined and very cramped House and Office makes work difficult and life uncomfortable. With these requirements satisfied, no great sum remained available for the larger works to which public attention is more easily drawn, and Government had perforce to make a selection. There are in mind—the Government Civil Hospital, the Mental Hospital, Kowloon Hospital, the Kowloon Post Office the Vernacular Normal School for Women, the Central British School, to mention the most prominent, and Government has selected the Government Civil Hospital, the Central British School and the Kowloon Hospital as the objects on which attention should most immediately be concentrated.
It must not be thought that the omission of the remaining schemes means that their importance is ignored, and the choice was made only after the most anxious consideration of all the conditions.
Perhaps I might refer particularly to the omission of the Kowloon Post Office. The expansion of the Colony has made office accommodation in Hong Kong very cramped; and the development of Kowloon is not without responsibility for the extra pressure. In any case the time has come when the time has come when Kowloon should be provided with at least branch offices where residents can do their Government business without coming across the harbour. A comprehensive view of the requirements in this direction is called for, and the probability is that a large building which will include an ample Post Office will be necessitated in the near future.
